The secret to becoming a great voice-over artist is learning how to make the most of your voice. In this hands on class, we'll show you:

- *How to sound comfortable and in control every time, every take
- *How to interpret a script—not just “read” it
- *How to take direction
- *The do's and don'ts
- *What a recording session is really like

About the Instructors

Tatiana Guy has been in the voice over industry for 25 years. Her voice has been featured in countless television and radio ads. She has lent her voice as a narrator in a wide variety of video productions and can be heard as the voice of the mother in the holiday animated film “An Elf’s Story.” When not recording, Tatiana teaches Musical Theatre and Drama at the Magellan Charter School in Raleigh.

Cameron Fitzpatrick is the Vice President and Chief Engineer at SoundTrax. He’s a Summa Cum Laude graduate of the Recording & Production program at Appalachian State University, and has been shaping dialogue, narration and sound design for years. Cameron has mixed and edited TV audio for networks such as TLC, DIY and PBS. He’s experienced in podcasts, narration, and every type of voice-over imaginable.
